FARMERS GAIN BIG INCREASE IN MILK PRICE

Buyers Yield to Demand of Producers for More Money

SETTLE PRICE FOR 3 MONTHS

The milk producers of the fluid milk district of Chicago will receive $2.00 a hundred for their milk for July, $2.05 for August and $2.00 for September. This is a considerable increase over the present price.

The buyers and the committee of the milk board with a group of interested farmers and bankers met at the Hotel LaSalle Thursday for the adjourned meeting of the previous Monday, when the buyers and the producers were unable to come to an agreement on the price of milk.

The vote taken by the producers at first showed them unanimous for $2.20 for milk and this price was again put before the buyers. The buyers refused to meet this price. The producers held fast to their price and when the final price acceptable to the farmers was presented to the buyers they finally yielded to the demand of the producers for more money for their product and offered $2.00 for July, $2.05 for August and $2.00 for September and $2.05 for October. The producers accepted this increase with the exception of the October price, which was turned down.

This gives the fluid milk men of this district a considerable boost inasmuch as the distributors are still to maintain the 12c a quart price on the Chicago market, and gives the farmer 43c of the 12c price received by the distributors but as yet the farmers are entitled to one-half of the price received for their product and no doubt will soon receive it when the distributors see the injustice of paying drivers as much as the producer receives.

Only Two Small Fires Over the Holidays

Two small fires called out the volunteer fire department on Monday. The first call came about 10:15 o'clock in the morning when fire threatened the barn on the Asa Little farm at Grass Lake. The dry grass was burning on the north and east sides of the barn and was traveling fast toward the barn when the local firemen extinguished the flames. The fire started from firecrackers.

About 4:15 p. m. the firemen made a trip to put out another grass fire in the rear of Frank Dunne's home. It is thought sparks from a passing engine caused the fire, which the east wind was carrying toward the Dunne and Hunter properties.

St. Ignatius' Church Notes

Starting next Sunday there will be a celebration of the holy communion in St. Ignatius' church every Sunday except the third Sunday of the month at 7 a. m. On the third Sunday there will be a celebration at 10 a. m. This means that there will be a weekly eucharist at the church.

Church school as usual at 8:45 in the morning and morning prayer at 10.

On Friday of this week there will be a meeting of the Ladies' Guild at the home of Mrs. Lux.

It is a great privilege for this church that it can now have a weekly celebration of the holy communion, and this marks a step in the spiritual progress and life of the mission. Through the generosity of a friend of mission, the weekly Eucharist has been made possible, as a Ford car has been given to the priest-in-charge, so that he may come to Antioch every Sunday for the Eucharist.

Let us show our appreciation for this gift by attendance at the Eucharist, and by more frequent communion, because the only way to keep up and maintain the spiritual life is by the use of the sacraments of the church. The donor of this machine has been most interested in our spiritual welfare, and has been prompted to stimulate our spiritual life in this manner.

Therefore the services next Sunday are at 7, 8:45 and 10 a. m. Come and bring your friends. Visitors from the lakes are most cordially invited.

20 Years Ago in Antioch

Thursday, July 10, 1902
H. B. Pierce, who has been sick for some time with an attack of typhoid fever, is now on the gain.

Miss Alice Emmons has been spending the past two weeks with Mrs. F. W. Weigle at Monroe, Wis.

Walter Chino of Kenosha spent the Fourth with his parents here.

Dr. Roy Williams of Rockford is visiting his parents here.

Miss Maude Brogan of Kenosha spent the Fourth and over Sunday with her parents here.

Herb Pierce, who has been running a barber shop at Withey, Wis., has sold out and returned to Antioch, where he will work for his father during the summer.

The Fourth was a record breaker at all the resorts, fully one thousand people being taken care of by the railroad at this station. All the hotels were overflowing many of them being compelled to turn away guests and many sought hotel accommodations in town.

If the rumors are true Waukegan is upon the eve of the consummation of another of its long cherished projects, the building of an electric railroad westward from the city through the populous territory intervening between here and the popular Lake County resort region; in fact the carrying out of Waukegan-Fox Lake and Western Electric Railway project, which meets a long recognized demand for the placing of the county seat into a reader communication with the balance of the county.

Resort Keeper Begins Serving Term Saturday

William Schmidt, proprietor of a snoot and lake resort at Fox Lake, entered the Lake county jail late Saturday night to begin his service of a 30 day jail sentence for liquor law violations. Schmidt was found guilty of selling liquor, fined $600 and costs and sentenced to 30 days in jail. The fine was paid Saturday before he started his jail term.

In order to continue operating his resort as a soft drink parlor, Schmidt filed a bond of $5,000 as assurance that there would be no more liquor sales in his hotel. His assistants will keep the place open until Schmidt has served his time, when he will return and operate the resort as a soft drink parlor.

Nab Rosenberg in Connection With Antioch Bank Robbery

Sam Rosenberg, wanted in Lake county with John Gilmore in connection with the robbery of the Antioch State bank, has been arrested in Chicago, according to a report from the American Bankers' association received by Sheriff Elmer J. Green.

Rosenberg, the report says, was caught in the Commercial National bank in Chicago when he attempted to cash a bogus check. It is declared by the banking officials that Rosenberg is a notorious gangster of a west side Chicago crowd who has been cashing a number of worthless checks throughout the Chicago district, and is wanted in several cities.

Gilmore and Rosenberg were both released on bonds following a grand jury indictment charging them with robbing the Antioch bank. Their case was called to trial several times and in each case one or the other of the defendants held up the trial by his absence. Rosenberg generally delayed the trial by sending doctor's certificates to the circuit court here stating that he was ill with appendicitis and that to move him might prove fatal.

Can Visit Observatory

The Yerkes' observatory will be open to persons presenting cards of admission every Saturday afternoon during the summer from 1:30 to 4:30. Tickets may be obtained free of charge by mailing to the Yerkes' Observatory, Williams Bay, Wis., a stamped and addressed envelope with a request for the number of admissions desired.

LAKE VILLA IS WINNER IN BATFEST

Score 15 Runs in Last Three Innings and Win by 22 to 13 Score

BURLINGTON LOST SUNDAY

Next Sunday the strong Wilmet team will come to the Antioch ball park and play a return game. The Wilmet team has been playing some real fast ball since the Antioch team defeated them in the spring and Sunday's game will tell who is the better of the two clubs.

Sunday Games

Antioch 9, Burlington 3.
Lake Villa 2, Wilmet.
Lightning A. C. 3, Renchans 5.
Grand Billiards 9, K. of C. 7.
Libertyville 10, Barewell 9.

Fourth of July Games

Antioch 13, Lake Villa 22.
Burlington 13, Kenosha 6.
Polonia Club, 4, Grand Billiards, 2.
Opekas, 6, Renchans, 11.
State Line, 5, Wilmet 1.

Antioch was favored with two very exciting games of ball over the holidays. Sunday the home team defeated the strong Burlington team for the second time. On the Fourth Antioch met their old rivals, Lake Villa. The whole countryside must have been waiting for this game as the park was filled to capacity, spectators being lined up clear down the sidelines to deep left and right fields.

Lake Villa came up with a very strong array of players and with Davison traveling at top-notch pace, the Antioch boys showed them some real hitting. Bixby, pitching for Antioch, was hit as freely as Davison but outside the two bad innings, the seventh and eighth, he seemed to have the edge on the Lake Villa man.

There were many errors throughout the game, Antioch having eight chalked against them, while Lake Villa had seven. This was no doubt due to the fast condition of the field, it being the result of the injury to "Red" Fields, the local catcher, when a pitched ball took an ugly bound and hitting just above the eye, but "Red" showed his fighting quality when he continued to catch with one eye practically closed. Both L. Hook and Molinaro were knocked out during the game through the same condition, but continued to play.

The Lake Villa players brought up did not show anything spectacular in their fielding line but the playing of Everett Hook at short was the same as Sunday, covering a wide expanse of territory and stopping time and again what were labeled for clean hits. L. Hook played his same consistent game at first, stopping all kinds of heavens and the majority of times getting his man.

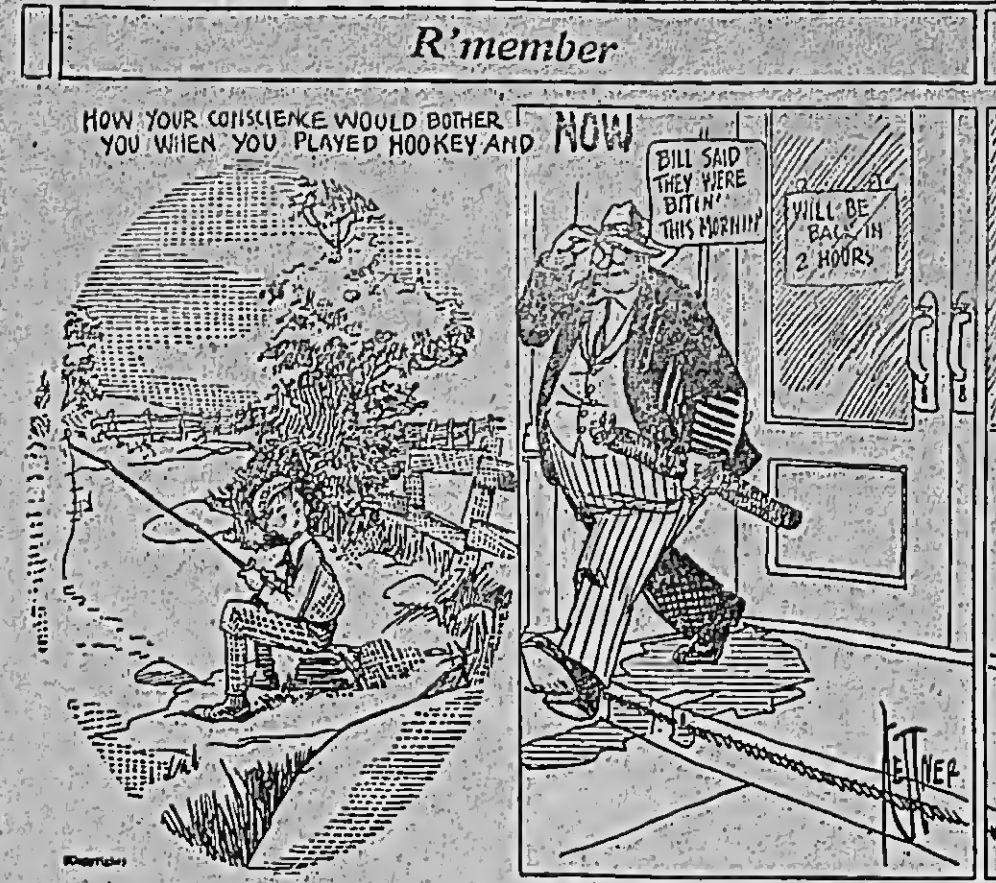

Bixby was easily the batting star, batting for 1,000 per cent, and L. Fiola got on four times out of five times up and scored four runs.

While the score of 22 to 13 looks as if the game might have been a run-away match for Lake Villa, the game was very close with plenty of excitement up to the eighth inning, when Lake Villa scored six runs and the won the game.

Lake Villa put three runs across in the first inning when Bixby passed the first man up, Thornquist hit one to left, Philpant getting to third, Korns, the next batter, slammed one at Bixby that was too hot to hold. Philpant scoring and Korns getting on first and Thornquist reaching third in the mixup. Korns stole second and both scored on a hit by Rogers. After Bunke had struck out, the next two men went out via the fly route to Fields and Davison, respectively.

Antioch failed to do anything in their half of the first, Lake Villa likewise in the second. In Antioch's half of the second, however, the local boys jumped into the lead with four runs. After George Fiola died at first, Thornquist to Haggerty, Molinaro hit safely over second getting to second on Fields' hit to short which was fumbled. L. Fiola clouted the ball for two bases to right, scoring "Mike" and "Red." Bixby was passed, so was Mount. Bixby was out at third on L. Hook's hit, scoring Fiola. Mount

Celebrate Old-Fashion Fourth of July

Antioch had a real old fashion Fourth this year with torpedoes, cannon crackers n'everything. The celebration started Saturday night and the continued crack of explosions were heard continually up to late Tuesday night when the kids tired and weary after their three days of celebration crawled into bed giving the older folks a chance to register a sigh of relief on the passing of another Fourth.

The village was well supplied with fireworks this year and the few industrious people who set up stands around the town to sell fireworks did a land office business.

The holiday crowd made their appearance early Saturday afternoon and a steady stream continued throughout Saturday night and Sunday and Monday night there were others appeared to take the place of those who returned to the cities Sunday night.

The resorts around the lakes hung out their "standing room only" signs early Saturday night and the visitors started to flock back to the village for accommodations and after the hotels of the village were filled to overflow the private homes were besieged for sleeping room.

Reeves Gives 'Em Away; Kids Shoot 'Em Off

All the kids that happened to be "up town" about 10 o'clock Tuesday evening had the time of their lives when Reeves was throwing out all their remaining stock of fireworks and firecrackers to a "gang" of about thirty. Fire crackers by the handful were thrown out and a grand scramble was made to recover them. Then they were lit, a package at a time, and when they were gone another supply was given them. The fire crackers intermingled with Roman candles, sky-rockets and flower pots, etc., furnished a fine display for the spectators.

Andrew Cooke Estate in Suit

The Harris Trust & Savings bank, of Chicago, trustees of Andrew Cooke and wife, deceased, of Waukegan, today filed suit for specific performance against Leland B. and Minnie C. Warden, for payment of some property at Indian Point, Fox Lake.

The complainants charge that the Wardens have failed to fulfill their agreement as to payment of the property, the purchase price of which is given as $9,500.

Trial by Ordeal

Trial by ordeal still exists in some parts of Japan. If a thief takes place in a household, all the servants are required to write a certain word with the same brush. The conscience is supposed to betray its workings in the waves of the ideographs written. Tracing an ideograph involves such an effort of muscular directness and undivided attention that this device often leads to the discovery of the guilty party. The test is, at all events, more humane than the ordeal of boiling water, to which accused persons were formerly submitted in Japan.

How Anna Won Out

"Funny how things work out sometimes," said the married marine to a bunch of his buddies. "Two years ago I was going around with Ethel and Anna, and I couldn't for the life of me tell which of the two I wanted to marry. One night I dropped into the post exchange to buy a cigar. Right on the clear band, as large as life, it said, 'Hay-ana!'"—Lentherneck.

Neighboring News Briefs of Interest

Twenty-five million baby salmon from the state hatchery at Spring Grove, Ill., will be placed in the Fox river within a few weeks. Fox river lakes north of here have been stocked with millions of trout.

The price of gasoline went up another cent last week, the Standard Oil Co. here receiving notice to sell it at 23 cents from the tank wagons and 25 cents at the service stations. Only a few weeks ago the price was raised two cents. Kerosene is also affected by the new price being 12½ cents from tank wagons.

The olive green gallows that were denied the life of Ignatz Potz by five and a half hours still lie in the attic of the court house, an expense to the county of close to $500.

There was the initial cost of bringing them from Chicago to Waukegan, the carpentry work in building the stairs and platform, the preliminary trials, and finally will come the cost of taking them back to the city. Then there were a party of regulation "hangmen" imported from the sheriff's office in Chicago at a good expense. All of this will bring the expenditure up to a neat little sum, according to Sheriff Green.

It costs plenty, said one, even if the hanging was a false alarm.

The cost of the Governor Small trial, to Sangamon county, will be approximately $15,000 according to States Attorney Mortimer, of that county. Circuit Clerk L. O. Brockway has supplied approximate figures which indicate that Lake county's bill alone will be in excess of $13,000.

The approximate cost of the trial, so far as Lake county's bill is concerned, according to Mr. Brockway's estimates are as follows:

Pay of jurors—$4,632.
Pay of bailiffs—$3,552.
Board of jurors and bailiffs—$1,700.
Court reporter—$320.
Witnesses—$2,002.03.
Sheriff's costs—$619.55.
Clerk's per diem—$360.

This is a total cost to Lake county, according to Mr. Brockway, of $13,187.85.

Their records show that 444 veniremen were summoned before a jury was obtained. While this is considerable it was not as much as in the Orpet case when 1,286 veniremen were called in.

The costs of the case as estimated above do not take into consideration the salaries paid to the attorneys in the case.

Timepieces Royal Hobby

Louis XVI had a passion for timepieces, and it is said that he had so difficult a time in adjusting his clocks and watches that he reflected on the "absurdity of his having attempted to bring men to anything like uniformity of belief in matters of faith when he could not make any two of his timepieces agree with each other." On one occasion his royal chief at his wit's end for variety in his dishes said: "I really do not know what to do, unless I be to serve up your majesty a fricassee of watches."

Out for the Championship

An actor with a decided thrift strain was told by a Broadway hotel manager that a certain fellow in town was called the champion tightwad because he only tipped her a dime. "Well," said the actor, "I'm going to take the championship away from him."

POLES TO BE MOVED FROM MAIN STREET

Last of Obstructions to Right of Way Cleared Wednesday

BIG IMPROVEMENT SEEN

A clear right of way for the replacement of the poles on Main street to the back of the buildings has finally been secured and the Public Service company and the Telephone company will take immediate steps to get the work under way.

The securing of the easement has been a very arduous task and is due to untiring work on the part of Dr. W. W. Warriner, president of the Commercial Association, and the men appointed by him to act on a committee to accomplish this improvement.

The poles will run in the rear of the west side of Main street in the rear of the buildings from Lake street to Orchard street, and from there cross Main street to a point back of the Antioch Press and in the rear of the buildings on the east side to The Antioch Sales and Service Station.

This will make a great improvement in the appearance of Main street.

The Rutledge Construction Co., have been delayed in starting the 5th due to delay in receiving equipment here on schedule time. The cars were shipped on Friday from Rockford but those sent by way of Chicago have not arrived but two cars of supplies shipped by way of Waukegan are now in the depot.

Mr. Rutledge's present plans are to start at the south limit of town work to Lake street, then complete the center strips to Depot street, making a one-way passage way open Main street.

He will then start improvement at the north end of the village and possibly at the state line and work to depot street and then complete Main street.

Woman's Club to Hear Philicon Musical Society

The Philicon Musical Society composed of a group of fourteen club women of Chicago, several of whom are members of the summer contingent of the Antioch Woman's club, will give an afternoon concert before the club next Wednesday, July 12, at 2:30 at the home of Mrs. Reed at Lake Catherine.

This promises to be the treat of the year for our club. We are truly fortunate to be so situated as to be able to avail ourselves of an opportunity to spend an afternoon so delightfully suggestive of inspiration and social enjoyment.

The Philicon Musical club have given this concert before many of the large clubs, Parent Teacher's associations and other organizations in the city and its suburbs and are in constant demand. Because of the interest taken in our Woman's club by the members living around the lakes who are here only during the summer months the Philicon club has kindly consented to come from the city and give us this afternoon concert asking only the expenses necessarily incurred.

As guests of the afternoon we are to have with us our State President, Mrs. Bailey; also our district president, Mrs. James. Campbell of Rogers Park.

In order not to over tax the hospitality of our hostess and at the same time insure the wherewithal to meet expenses a limited number of tickets at 50 cents each will be sold. Every member of the Woman's club is cordially invited and earnestly urged to lay aside all housekeeping cares—and for that one afternoon forget the flesh pots—and take time to "grow a soul" in an atmosphere of music and social enjoyment. Come and bring a friend to hear the Philicon Musical club at Mrs. Reed's Lake Catherine home next Wednesday afternoon at 2:30 sharp. The Social Committee under the direction of Mrs. C. King are making every effort to make this a most enjoyable occasion.

WOMAN COULD NOT WORK

Made Strong and Well by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

St. Paul, Minn.—"I took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound for a tired, worn-out feeling and painful periods. I used to get up with a pain in my head and pains in my lower parts and back. Often I was not able to do my work. I read in your little book about Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and I have taken it. I feel so well and strong and can do every bit of my work and not a pain in my back now. I recommend your medicine and you can use this letter as a testimonial." Mrs. PATT. MASON, 801 Winslow St., St. Paul, Minn.

Just another case where a woman found relief by taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. Many times these tired, worn-out feelings and pains about the body are from troubles only women have. The Vegetable Compound is especially adapted for just this condition. The good results are noted by the disagreeable symptoms passing away—one after another.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is a Woman's Medicine for Women's Ailments. Always reliable.

Solution of "Lake of Mystery" Sought.
An attempt to solve the secret of Lake Eyre, called the "mystery lake," in the interior of Australia, soon will be made by a scientific expedition. The lake is 400 miles from the nearest settlement. Seven rivers from the hills, miles away, penetrate Australia's great interior desert and tumble their contents into the lake. In rainy seasons these rivers become enormous flooded areas. Without any apparent outlet, Lake Eyre, an inland sea as the result of the flooded rivers, contracts and becomes a lake again in a surprisingly short time.

Australian Cotton.
An exhibition of Australian-grown cotton which was opened in Sydney drew attention to a new movement to cultivate cotton on a large scale in various parts of Australia. The Australian Cotton Growers' association is actively engaged in placing the industry on a stable basis, especially in Queensland and northern parts of New South Wales.

All Up.
The presiding officer at a Washington banquet recently introduced an innovation that will be appreciated by all baseball fans who have learned to practice and reserve it as an attraction. No doubt the banqueters enjoyed the surprise.

There had been two or three rather long-winded speeches following a somewhat gargantuan feast. The company had, in consequence, been seated continuously for more than two hours. Suddenly arising as if to announce the next speaker, the presiding officer rejected all hearts by saying: "Gentlemen, it's the seventh inning. Let's stretch!"—Judge.

Probably Needed It.
"Henry," said Mrs. Peckton, "I had some words with a traffic policeman this morning."

"Where was he stationed?"
"At the intersection of Plymouth and Spruce."

"I'll speak to the fellow at once."
"Don't offer him any violence, Henry."

"I won't. I'll offer him my sympathy."—Birmingham Age-Herald.

Ramsey Milholland

by Booth Tarkington

Copyright by Doubleday, Page & Company.

"PEACH OF A PUNCH."

Synopsis.—With his grandfather, small Ramsey Milholland is watching the "Decoration Day Parade" in the home town. The old gentleman, a veteran of the Civil war, endeavors to impress the youth with the significance of the great conflict, and many years afterward the boy was to remember his words with stirring vividness. In the schoolroom, a few years later, Ramsey is not distinguished for "remarkable" ability, though his pronounced dislikes are arithmetic, "Recitation" and German. In sharp contrast to Ramsey's backwardness is the precocity of little Dora Yocum, a young lady whom in his bitterness he denigrates as "Teacher's Pet." In high school, where he and Dora are classmates, Ramsey continues to feel that the girl delights to manifest her superiority, and the vindictiveness he generates becomes alarming, culminating in the resolution that some day he will "show" her. At a class picnic Ramsey is captured and humiliated by Milha. Ramsey, the class beauty, and endures the agonies of his first love. Ramsey's parents object to Milha and wish he'd taken up with Dora Yocum. Ramsey kisses Milha. Then Milha suddenly leaves town. She marries. Ramsey enters the state university and there is Dora Yocum again. Ramsey meets Dora in a World War debate and is "gloriously vanquished."

He was so right, in regard to his own performance, at least, that, thereupon drying up utterly, he proceeded to stand, a speechless figure in the midst of a multitudinous silence, for an eternity lasting forty-five seconds. He made a racking effort, and at the end of this epoch found words again. "In making my argument in this debate, I would state that—"

"Two minutes!" said the chairman. "Refutation by the negative. Miss D. Yocum. Two minutes."

"I waive them," said Dora, primly. "I submit that the affirmative has not refuted the argument of the negative."

"Very well," With his gavel the chairman sharply tapped the desk before him. "The question is now before the house. Resolved, that Germany is both morally and legally justified in her invasion of Belgium." All these in favor of the—

But here there was an interruption of a kind never before witnessed during any proceedings of the Lumen society. It came from neither of the speakers, who still remained standing at their desks until the vote settling their comparative merits in argument should be taken. The interruption was from the rear row of seats along the wall, where sat new members of the society, freshmen not upon the program of the evening. A loud nasal voice was heard from this quarter, a loud but nasal voice, shrill as well as nasal, and full of a strange hot passion. "Mr. Chairman!" it cried. "Look-a-here, Mr. Chairman! Mr. Chairman, I demand to be heard! You gotta gimme my say, Mr. Chairman! I'm a-gonna have my say! You look-a-here, Mr. Chairman!"

Shocked by such a breach of order, and by the unseemly violence of the speaker, not only the chairman but everyone else looked there. A short, strong figure was on its feet, gesticulating fiercely; and the head belonging to it was a large one with too much curly black hair, a flat swarthy face, shiny and not immaculately shaven; there was an impression of ill-chosen clothes, too much fat red lip, too much tooth, too much eyebrow. Fred Mitchell recognized this violent interrupter as one Linski, a fellow freshman who sat next him in one of his classes. "What's that cuss up to?" Fred wondered, and so did others. Linski showed them.

He pressed forward, shoving himself through the two rows in front of him till he emerged upon the green carpet of the open space, and as he came, he was cyclonic with words. "You don't put no such stuff as this over, I tell you!" he shouted in his hot, nasal voice. "This here's free country, and you call yourself a debating society, do you? Lomme tell you I belong to a debating society in Chicago, where I come from, and them fellas up there, they'd think they'd oughta be shot for a fake like what you people are tryin' to put over, here, tonight. I come down here to get some more education, and pay for it, too, in good hard money. I've made sweat in a machine shop up there in Chicago; but if this is the kind of education I'm a-gonna git, I better go on back there. You call this a square debate, do you?"

He advanced toward the chairman's platform, sinking a frantic fist. "Well, if you do, you got another think comin', my capitalists' friend! You want and give out the question whether it's right for Cholimun to go through Belgium; and what do you do fer the Cholimun side? You pick out this here big stuff"—he waved his passionate

"I'll Have My Say!" the Frenzied Linski Screamed.

Integrate. "I'll have my say!" the frenzied Linski screamed. "You try to put up this capitalist's trick and work a fake to carry over this debate again! Cholimun, but you can't work it on me, lomme tell you I'll have my say!"

The outraged chairman was wholly at a loss how to deal with the unprecedented situation—so he declined it, quite truthfully; and he continued to pound upon the desk, while other clamors began to rival Linski's; shouts of "Put him out!" "Order!" "Shut up, Freshman!" "Turn him over to the sophomores!"

"This meeting is adjourned!" bellowed the chairman, and there was a thronging toward the doors, while the frothing Linski asserted: "I'm a-gonna git my say, I tell you! I'll have my say! I'll have my say!"

He had more than that, before the hour was over. A moment after he emerged from the building and came out, still hot, upon the cool, dark campus, he found himself the center of a group of his own classmates whom he at first mistook for sophomores, such was their manner.

As this group broke up a few minutes later, a youth running to join it, scenting somewhat of interest, detained one of these who were departing.

"What's up? What was that squealing?"
"Oh, nothing. We just talked to that Linski. Nobody else touched him, but Ramsey Milholland gave him a peach of a punch on the snout."
"Whoopee!"

Ramsey was laconic in response to inquiries upon this subject. When some one remarked: "You served him right for calling you a boob and a poor fish and so on before all the society, girls and all," Ramsey only said: "That wasn't what I hit him for." He declined to explain further.

CHAPTER VIII.

"The way I look at it, Ramsey," Fred Mitchell said, when they reached their apartment, whither a benevolent senior, Colburn, accompanied them, "the way I look at it, this Linski kind of paid you a compliment, after all."

when he called you a fake. He must have thought you anyway looked as if you could make a better speech than you did. Oh, golly!"

And as Ramsey groaned, the jovial Mitchell gave himself up to the divan and the mirth. "Oh, oh, oh, golly!" he spluttered.

"Never you mind, Brother Milholland," Colburn said gently. "The Lumen is used to nervous beginners. I've seen dozens in my time, just like you; and some of 'em got to be first rate before they quit. Besides, this crazy Linski is all that anybody'll ever remember about tonight's meeting anyhow. There never was any such outbreak as that in my time, and I guess there never was in the whole history of the society. We'll probably suspend him until he apologizes to the society."

"I'm on the board, and I'm in favor of it. Who is the bird, anyhow? He's in your class."

"I never saw him before," Ramsey responded from the deep chair, where he had moodily thrown himself; and, returning to his brooding upon his oratory, "Oh, murder!" he moaned.

"Well," said the senior, "you'll know him when you see him again. You put your mark on him where you can see it, all right!" He chuckled. "I suppose I really ought to have interfered in that, but I decided to do a little astronomical observation, about fifty feet away, for a few minutes. I'm way behind in my astronomy, anyhow. Do you know this Linski, Brother Mitchell?"

"I've talked to him a couple of times on the campus," said Fred. "He's in one of my classes. He's about the oldest in our class, I guess—a lot older than us, anyhow. He's kind of an anarchist or something; can't talk more'n five minutes any time without gettin' off some bug stuff about 'capitalism.' He said the course in political economy was all 'capitalism' and the prof was bought by Wall Street."

"Poor old Prof. Craig!" Colburn laughed. "He gets older hundred a year."

"Yes; I'd heard that myself, and I told Linski, and he said he had an uncle workin' in a steel mill got twice that much, but it didn't make any difference, ole Craig was bought by Wall Street. He said 'capitalism' better look out; he and the foreign-born workmen were goin' to take this country some day, and that was one of the reasons he was after an education. He talked pretty strong pro-German, too—about the war in Europe—but I sort of thought that was more because he'd be pro-anything that he thought would help upset the United States."

"Cause he cared much about Germany?"
"Yes," said Colburn, "that's what he sounded like. I guess he's a pretty moral-like him in the class, too. The reminds me: I'd better arrange a debate on immigration for the Lumen. Well, put Brother Milholland for the negative, this time."

Ramsey started violently. "See here—"

But the senior reassured him. "Just wanted to see you jump," he explained. "Don't fear; you've done your share."

"I should think I have!" Ramsey groaned.

"Yes; you won't be called on again this term. By the way," said Colburn, thoughtfully, "that was a clever girl you had against you tonight. I don't believe in pacifism much, myself, but she used it very ably for her argument. Isn't she from your town, this Miss Yocum?"

Fred nodded.

"Well, she's a clever young thing," said the senior, still thoughtful. And he added: "Graceful girl, she is."

At this, the roommates looked at him with startled attention. Ramsey was so roused as to forget his troubles and sit forward in his chair.

"Yes," said the missing Colburn, "she's a mighty pretty girl."

"What?"

This exclamation was a simultaneous one; the astounded pair stared at him in blank incredulity.

"Why, don't you think so?" Colburn mildly inquired. "She seems to me very unusual looking."

"Well, yes," Fred assented, emphatically. "We're with you there!"

"Extraordinary eyes," continued Colburn. "Lovely figure, too; altogether a strikingly pretty girl. Handsome, I should say, perhaps. Yes, 'handsome' rather than 'pretty.' He looked up from a brief reverie. "You fellows know her long?"

"You bet!" said Ramsey.

"She made a splendid impression on the Lumen," Colburn went on. "I don't remember that I ever saw a first appearance there that quite equaled it. She'll probably have a brilliant career in the society, and in the university, too. She must be a very fine sort of a person."

He deliberated within himself a few moments longer; then, realizing that his hosts and brethren did not respond with any heartiness—or with anything at all—to the theme, he changed it, and asked them what they thought about the war in Europe.

They talked of the war drowsily for a while; it was an interesting but not an exciting topic; the thing they spoke of was so far away. After a few moments of fervor, the conversation languished, and Brother Colburn rose to go.

"To go over and help hang their d—d Kaiser!"

BOWRON SOUGHT RELIEF 40 YEARS

Tanlac Restores Los Angeles Man to Splendid Health After Everything Else Had Failed.

"Tanlac has done me more good than all other medicines and treatments combined, and that's saying a great deal, for I was a sufferer from indigestion forty years and have tried every kind of medicine that came my way," said R. H. Bowron, 1035 W. 17th St., Los Angeles, Cal.

"I could hardly stand the bad spells I frequently had with my stomach. I was weak and nervous, had no appetite, and I felt miserable generally. Nothing I took gave me more than temporary relief and I gradually grew worse."

"About two years ago Tanlac put me in splendid condition and it has been my standby ever since. When ever I get to feeling a little off, a bottle or two puts me in fine shape. I eat heartily now, sleep fine, have no distress after meals, and, in fact, am enjoying splendid health. Tanlac is just the thing for those who suffer as I did."

Tanlac is sold by all good druggists.

VAST RICHES OF OLD SPAIN

Luxury Surrounding Grandees of Three Centuries Ago Can Hardly Be Imagined.

The luxury displayed at the present age by the great of Spain can in no way compare with that of their ancestors of three centuries ago.

The duke of Albuquerque, who was told recently by the marquis of Saa Simon, can boast of being the owner of many pieces of furniture made of silver left to him by his father.

In order to weigh and make the inventory of the silver and gold tableware which were left, it was necessary to devote two hours per day for a period of six weeks. There were 1,400 dozens of dinner plates, 500 large platters and 700 smaller ones, all also being in proportion to this magnificence. Among other relics he has 40 silver step-ladders which were used to ascend to the tops of the cupboards which held those treasures.

The duke of Alva, who says that his father was not the richest, had left him 600 dozens of dinner plates and 800 platters made of wrought silver.

The order also stated that green shirts were ordered for the men "if they can be procured."

High Butter Records

Lake county Holsteins at the Dixon testing plant hold first, second, and fourth places in butter record for the month of May.

The cow owned by G. R. White is first with a record of 112.27 pounds of butter; one of the cows owned by Rouse Bros., is second with 110.81 pounds; F. E. Clark's cow holds fourth place with a record of 103.75 pounds.

The Holstein owned by Clement Bros., has second place in milk production with 2708.9 pounds milk on her record for May.

The third highest record was made by G. R. White's cow which was first in butter. Here production was 2,673 pounds for the month of May.

These records were made in competition with 51 producing cows at the plant.

Lake county now has 17 cows at the plant, the last one being from the herd of Carl Rudolph, Deerfield. This gives Lake county nearly one-third of the herd at the A. R. O. plant.

Management of Dairy Cattle

Keeping up the milk flow and bringing the cows through the summer in good condition are two serious problems confronting the dairyman. It is not advisable to allow the dairy herd to run down in flesh. Too often this happens in late summer. The cows freshen in thin condition and will not produce as well or as efficiently as cows that freshen in good flesh.

At this time there are many dairy men who are feeding silage or grain, or both, and they say it pays. It will pay even more next winter. The following grain mixture may be fed at the rate of one pound to every three and one-half to five pounds of milk produced per day, depending on the amount of milk produced and the condition of the cow: Corn, 5 parts; oats or bran, 2 parts; oil meal, 1 part.

Flies are responsible, in a large measure, for low milk yield in summer and thin cattle in the fall. Cows should be protected from them as much as possible. One of the best means of eliminating the fly evil is to keep the cows stabled during the heat of the day, in cool darkened barns. Windows can be darkened by nailing building paper over them. Quany sacks may be hung in the door way in such a manner that flies will be brushed from the cows' backs as they enter the barn. Manure should not be allowed to accumulate around the stables, as it is an ideal breeding place for flies. Powdered borax sifted over manure will aid in their control.

Some fly repellent mixtures are effective for a short time. A home made spray may be prepared as follows: Dissolve one-half pound of soap in a gallon of soft water heated to the boiling point, and with it combine two gallons of kerosene. Churn vigorously and add six gallons of water.

During the busy farming season there is a tendency to neglect the cows. Regular milking periods should be adhered to as closely as possible, as any marked change in the management of dairy cattle usually results in decreased milk and butterfat production.—C. S. Rhode, Dairy Department, U. of I.

Harding Likes Farm Bureaus

From the White House to President J. R. Howard, of the American Farm Bureau Federation comes the following letter bearing the signature of Warren G. Harding, president of the United States of America:

"Almost from its earliest beginnings I have been quite intimately apprised of the developing work of the Farm Bureau Federation. It has taken its place in an astonishingly brief period among the most important and influential factors in behalf, not only of the best agricultural development but also of shaping the community sentiments of the country. Its policies have been directed with a uniform wisdom and breadth of understanding which have well earned the high place which the Federation holds in the confidence of the country. I feel that it has been worthy of especial commendation by reason of the broad view it has taken of national problems and industrial relationships. This liberality of vision has been particularly illustrated in its broad and comprehending interest in behalf of an adequate merchant marine, and its favorable attitude to the Great Lakes-St. Lawrence waterway project."

President Harding was invited by President Howard to attend the Farm Bureau Decennial at DeKalb, Ill., on June 30. Because congress remains in session at that time the president is unable to attend the tenth birthday anniversary, but he expresses his regrets as follows:

"I am very sorry, indeed, for a number of reasons, that engagements heretofore made render it impossible for me to accept the invitation, which would afford an opportunity to present some suggestions which are very prominent in my mind."

Milk Pool Drive Formally Opens

Milk producers Monday opened their campaign at Geneva, Ill., for the purpose of organizing at least one-half the dairymen of the twenty-seven Illinois, Indiana and Wisconsin counties which ship milk into the Chicago market. If the campaign is successful, the Milk Producers Co-operative Marketing Co. will be the dominating factor in the Chicago Milk question and the dealers will be supplied directly by the producers' organization.

A committee of sixty met to complete the formulation of plans for carrying on the campaign in Kane county, the first in which the plan will be tried. C. V. Gregory, editor of the Prairie Farmer, and E. B. Heaton, director of dairy marketing for the American Farm Bureau Federation, addressed the committee and recommended a method of procedure.

The drive opened in Rock county, Wisconsin, at Janesville, Wednesday with a similar meeting. In Kane county alone, 1,000 dairymen are expected to join before September 1, the date set for closing. An intensive farm to farm canvass is planned.

Preliminary gatherings to determine whether the majority of producers favored the new plan were held last week in Rock county, Wisconsin; Cook, McHenry, Lake and Kane in Illinois; and in Lake and Porter in Indiana. The attitude at each of the meetings was described as strongly favorable.

"We are out for more money for our milk," said J. T. Williams, president of the marketing company, "but we are opposed to increasing the price to the consumer. We have no grievance against anybody but ourselves. Now we believe we have found the remedy."

"The outstanding idea on which we are organizing, is that the producer is entitled to one-half of the consumer's dollar, and that an increase in the retail price is unnecessary in order to pay us this one-half. The dairyman receives less money for owning his cows, caring for them and milking them than the milk driver receives in Chicago for doing nothing more than carrying bottles from his wagon to the back-doors."

"The $400,000 debenture bond issue of the Milk Producers Co-operative Marketing Co. will be available early in August, to take up the milk check which was held from all members last fall." This is the statement by J. T. Williams, president of the marketing company, made last week after letting a contract for lithographing and printing the bonds.

The bond issue is the result of recommendations made by the committee of nine, according to Mr. Williams, and at a recent meeting of the marketing company's board of directors, the necessary legal motions were passed for putting out the bonds.

"Every effort is being made by the management to speed up the actual delivery of these bonds as fast as it is humanly possible," says Mr. Williams. "It is sincerely hoped that the men to whom they are going will realize the importance of this solution to the held-up milk check problem, and will be patient during the month it will take the bonds to reach them. There is a tremendous amount of work involved in actually getting out these bonds, as they must be fully signed and recorded."

"All the legal details connected with the issue have been completed, and a contract has been made with the Mercantile Printing Co., of Chicago, for the lithographing and printing. The proof has been approved by the company's legal department."

"The lithographing of the bonds will take approximately two weeks, after which another ten days or two weeks will be required to complete the printing, as every bond must be numbered separately."

"Another delay will be occasioned by the fact that every bond has to be signed by the president and secretary. The total number to be issued is 17,400, and some idea of the size of this job of signing the bonds can be gained if you will sit down and see how long it takes you to sign your name 17,000 times. The denominations are to be: $100, $50, $25 and $10."

"Because of the varying amounts represented by each producer's account—many running below $100, it has been necessary to print a tremendous number of $10 bonds. I hope the producers will understand the huge task involved even after the bonds are actually signed, as a careful record must be made for each individual bond."

The question of satisfactorily settling the held-up month's milk check has occupied the thought of the committee of nine and the directors of the Milk Producer Co-operative Marketing Co. for a number of months, and in this new arrangement Mr. Williams believes that a complete and fair solution has been found.

Solitaire

Solitaire is a game played on a board invented with 33 or 37 hemispherical hollows, with the same number of balls or marbles. An unoccupied hollow is left by removing one ball, and the balls, or pieces, are then captured as in checkers. No moves are allowed in diagonal directions or over more than one space at a time. The trick is to leave a solitary ball in the center hole.

Less Costly Dyeing

"The portrait painter charged me $1,000 to do me in oil," said the man who had just cleaned up in the stock market. "You got off cheap," replied the man who had been on the losing side. "In the future I think I'll have my dealings with a painter instead of a broker."

Methodist Episcopal Church News

SUNDAY SERVICES:
 Sunday School 9:45
 Morning Service 11:00
 Epworth League 7:00
 Evening Service 7:45

Quite a number of Chicago people were in the services of the church last Sunday morning. The service was devoted to law and order. The pastor declared that when the majority of the people in any community register their will at the ballot box and that will is crystallized into law, no matter whether that community be a small local community, a whole state, or the entire nation, then there is only one thing for a decent citizen to do: and that is strictly to obey the law. He who disregards the law promotes anarchy and his conduct is traitorous. He pointed out that this condemnation comes not only on the wretched bootlegger, whom nobody respects, but equally upon the "respected citizen" who thinks it smart to break the law a little in some few small matters so long as he can "get away with it."

The speaker showed that the entire wet propaganda has for its aim to secure breaking of the law for absolutely no other purpose than to make liquor dealers richer. Nobody knows better than the men who are paying for the propaganda for "beer and light wines" that their proposal would mean a far worse holocaust of drunkenness than we had before prohibition came.

The whole claim and argument that prohibition is failing was branded as lying, pure and simple, and the preacher declared that the very men putting out that argument are the men who know best of all men that the United States prohibition law is the most stupendous success of any great national movement within a generation. The wets are painfully aware that the people of the whole country are so well pleased with the Volstead law as it is that, in the recent primaries, they have, by their ballots, nominated for congress one hundred and six dry men and only one wet one.

As a sample of wet "dope" there was cited the case of the Chicago Tribune representing Professor Irving Fisher, of Yale, a very high authority, as writing in a vein unfavorable to our prohibition law. Professor Fisher hastened to correct the Tribune's misrepresentation, declaring himself more strongly for prohibition since seeing how it works, and he adds that it is now adding more than five billion dollars a year to the income of our people. At that rate, by next year, prohibition, in four years, will have saved us enough to buy all the railroads in the United States, with all their properties and equipment.

Judge Geimill, of Chicago, one of the most expert statisticians in the country, finds that there are 700,000 fewer arrests for drunkenness in the United States each year now than before prohibition came.

The wets claim that more people are dying from liquor drinking now than before prohibition. But right in Chicago, in the Bridewell, there were 179 deaths from liquor in 1917. Last year there was just one.

Not one state in the union has as many of its people in prison as before prohibition came; while the total number of people in prison now in the United States is only one-third as many as before prohibition; and it is to be remembered that it is great gain when a large percentage of those now in prison are the men who sell liquors instead of their victims.

All charity statistics available for the entire country show an 86 per cent decrease in family poverty and distress caused by drink.

The pastor called attention to the general movement of the Christian people in the entire Chicago region to take and read the Chicago Evening Post in preference to all the other Chicago papers for the reason that The Post is the only Chicago daily paper which is using its great power to help for law and order in this great and vital struggle.

Studebaker

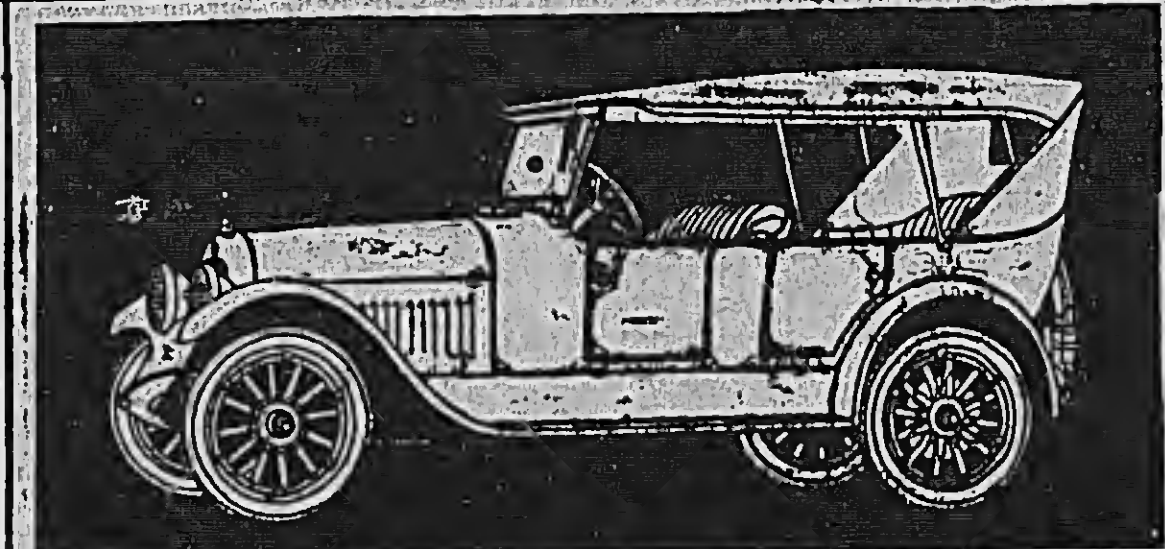

STUDEBAKER builds more six-cylinder cars than any other manufacturer because Studebaker builds them better. We can show you 84 definite points of superiority in the Special-Six over Studebaker's nearest competitor.

In times of close competition, merit wins. Today competition in automobiles is keener than it ever was, because people are buying more carefully than ever. Studebaker increased its sales 29% in 1921, though the industry, as a whole, showed a falling off of nearly 45%. 1922, up to May 1st, shows a gain in Studebaker production of 143% over the same period of 1921.

Studebaker sales records tell their own story. The buying public has declared for Studebaker's superiority.

 5,800 Square Miles of Territory Served
 1,157,000 Population

Great Electric and Gas Belt Increasing in Its Prosperity

MARKED industrial revival and greatly enlarged building activity is noted in the industrial and residential districts on Chicago's fringe.

Chicago is bounded on the East by Lake Michigan, on the North, South, and West by the electric transmission lines and gas mains of the PUBLIC SERVICE COMPANY OF NORTHERN ILLINOIS.

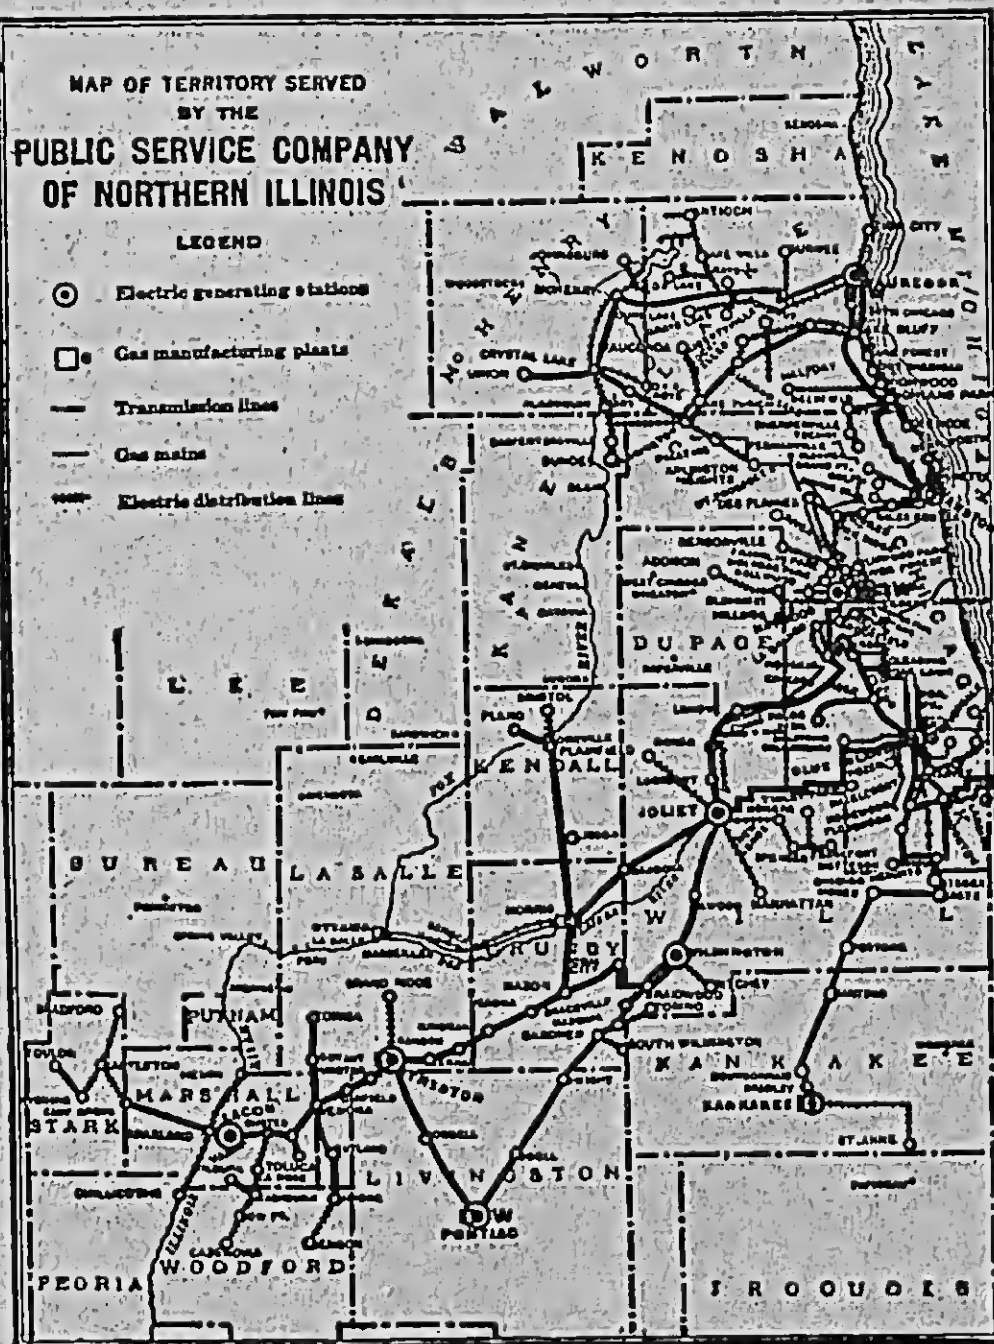

The electric power business of this company shows an increase of 24 per cent compared with Jan. 1. Electric lighting business has increased 15 per cent. Sales of gas for industrial purposes are 12 per cent higher than in the corresponding period of 1921.

Every move of an industrial plant to Chicago's outskirts and suburbs or of a citizen to territory adjacent to the city, means added electric and gas business for the PUBLIC SERVICE COMPANY.

A territory of 5,800 square miles, whose population is in excess of 1,157,000 is served by the company's 7 gas manufacturing plants and 16 electric generating plants. Its 700 miles of high-tension electric transmission lines and 900 miles of gas mains serve, not only the great industrial and residential districts surrounding Chicago, extending from the Wisconsin state line, on the North to the Indiana state line on the South, but sweep in a westerly and southerly direction as far as the Northeastern corner of Peoria County, crossing the rich agricultural and dairy regions.

As evidence of the great progress Northern Illinois has already made is the fact that the electricity sales of the PUBLIC SERVICE COMPANY OF NORTHERN ILLINOIS have increased nearly 450 per cent in the past ten years.

If Tale Is True, Peking Merchant Was More Than Ordinary "Child-Like and Bland."

Dr. Wellington Koo, the brilliant young Chinese diplomat, said at a dinner party in New York:

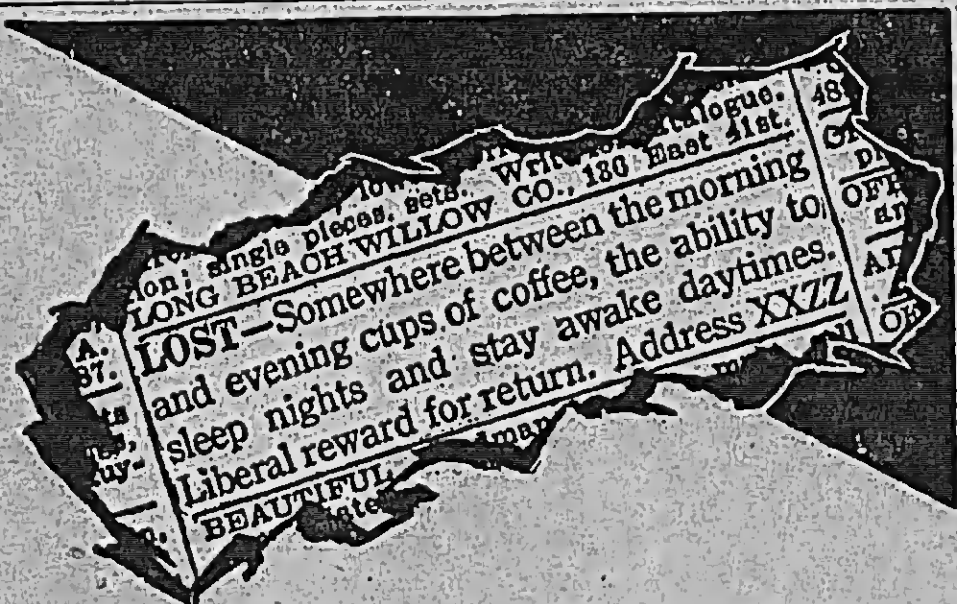

"Some men seem to think that we Chinese are a very childlike and very innocent people. They think we all exactly resemble the Peking merchant of the story."

"According to this story—and it is a gem—a Peking merchant took a rather notorious foreigner to board with him at a rate of $20 a week. Six months passed, and the rather notorious foreigner had not yet let his host once see the color of his money."

"So, at the end of the six months, the Peking merchant thought the matter over very thoughtfully and reduced the foreigner's board from $20 to $10. He explained that thus, if the foreigner never paid him, he would not lose so much money."

MORE RAIL MEN MAY JOIN STRIKE

Jewell in Parley With Chiefs of Maintenance of Way and Clerks.

U. S. BOARD OUTLAWS STRIKE

Hooper Says Position Jewell Is Now Taking Deprives His Organization of the Protection of the Federal Labor Board.

Chicago, July 4.—The walkout of 400,000 railway shopmen assumed an even more menacing aspect as the strike threatened to spread to 800,000 additional rail workers in the maintenance of way and clerical departments.

E. F. Grable, grand president of the Brotherhood of Maintenance of Way Men, and E. H. Fitzgerald, grand president of the Brotherhood of Railway and Steamship Clerks, were elbowed with Mr. Jewell in a conference.

None of the labor leaders would make a statement after their conference.

The railway executives already have laid plans for coping with any contingency that may arise in continuing operations in the railway shops. Each of the roads will issue bulletins warning employees that if they do not return to work they will be deprived of seniority and pension rights.

Union and railroad officials disagreed as to the actual percentage of men who walked out in protest against the $60,000,000 wage cut ordered by the United States railroad board. B. M. Jewell, head of the striking crafts organization, said the strike was 100 per cent effective. Railroad figures showed that in some places all the men walked out, in others 75 to 80 per cent, and in many places only 40 to 50 per cent.

"The strike is on and the trains are running as usual." This was the word received from all parts of the country. There was little disorder reported.

The shopmen's attitude was made clear by Mr. Jewell.

"As far as we are concerned," said Jewell's statement, "the United States railroad labor board no longer has jurisdiction over our affairs. Our men are not now working for any railroads."

And in a reply that obviously was intended as an official prophecy, Chairman Hooper said:

"The position Mr. Jewell is now taking to the effect that the employees whom he represents are no longer under the jurisdiction of the United States railroad labor board or the transportation act and, consequently, that they are not in a position to avail themselves of the manifold protection that the board has given his organization and its members during the last two years, is a position that may lead to ruin him later."

The first definite intimation that federal troops might be called to protect workers filling the jobs of strikers also came from Chairman Hooper when he contended in the following statement that such workers should not be regarded as "scabs."

"There is one new thought in connection with this strike that should be impressed upon everybody concerned. The man who takes the work that has been abandoned by a striker always has been called a scab, or a strikebreaker, terms to which much apprehension attaches in some quarters. In the present case the men who assume the work abandoned by the striking railway employees cannot be justly reproached with the epithets mentioned."

"This is not the customary case in which the employer and employees have a controversy about rules or wages and each tries to impose his views on the other."

"In this case the controversy is not, as in the former sense, between the carriers and their employees. The people, by act of congress approved by President Wilson, established a government tribunal charged with the duty of and vested with the power to fix rules and wages for railway employees."

"Disputes as to rules and wages were submitted and the evidence and arguments fully presented on both sides. Decisions of these disputes were handed down by the United States railway labor board. It is these decisions against which certain of the employees strike."

"The issues in which we are striking are not issues now pending before the board," Mr. Jewell said, in support of this argument.

The labor board view on this point repeatedly has been expressed.

The Young Mother.

THE ILLS OF INFANTS AND CHILDREN should be so well known to the youngest of mothers that a reminder or a repetition of the symptoms of illness seems unnecessary, yet there are some mothers who overlook a feverish condition, a little colic, or a disposition to be irritable. If not corrected they may lead to serious sickness. And to correct them, to bring Baby back to its happy self, is so easy by the use of Castoria—a medicine prepared just for infants and children. It will regulate the bowels (not force them), aid digestion and so bring quiet and rest.

Fletcher's Castoria has been doing this for over 30 years; regulating the stomach and bowels of infants and children. It has replaced the nauseating Castor Oil, so-called Soothing Syrups, poisonous Paregoric and other vicious concoctions in the homes of true and honest mothers—mothers who love their children.

Those mothers will give their babies foods and medicines especially prepared for infants and children.

Exact Copy of Wrapper.

Children Cry For Fletcher's CASTORIA

A Word About Truth.

"Great is Truth, and mighty above all things." So says the Old Testament, yet it is equally true to-day. Truth shows no favors, fears no enemies.

From the inception of Fletcher's Castoria, Truth has been the watchword, and to the conscientious adherence to this motto in the preparation of Fletcher's Castoria as well as in its advertising is due the secret of its popular demand.

All imitations, all substitutes, all just-as-good preparations lack the element of Truth, lack the righteousness of being, lack all semblance even in the words of those who would deceive.

And you! Mothers, mothers with the fate of the World in your hands, can you be deceived? Certainly not.

Fletcher's Castoria is prepared for Infants and Children. It is distinctly a remedy for the little ones. The BABY'S need for a medicine to take the place of Castor Oil, Paregoric and Soothing Syrups was the sole thought that led to its discovery. Never try to correct BABY'S troubles with a medicine that you would use for yourself.

Seemed to Be Something Wrong.
Kenneth's mother had been to the hospital and Kenneth was waiting impatiently for her return. The day of her homecoming he took a chair up to the window and watched every auto pass with his little nose flattened against the window pane. Suddenly an auto pulled up, his mother looked out and waved, and Kenneth dashed merrily out to the steps to greet her. Mother was overjoyed at seeing him, she began to cry, and Kenneth looked at her and said: "Ooh, mother dear, ain't you all well yet?"
